STAR SIGNALS

WHO IS THIS GUY?

★★★★★ Hello, again! As I promised you last month, we're going to use this installment of Star Signals to discuss "editors." Look at the credit box on the first page of most comic book stories. You usually see a writer, penciler, inker, letterer and colorist listed. It's pretty easy to figure out what those people do. But . . . an editor?! What's his job? Hey, if the other people are the ones who do the actual work on the story, what does the editor do? Who needs him, anyway?

EDITORS JUST WANT TO HAVE FUN!

★★★★★ A comic book editor is a lot like a coach. The writers, pencilers, inkers, letterers and colorists are his team. They're the guys on the field. He's the one who has to stand on the sidelines, and make sure that nothing goes wrong. An editor spends most of his time encouraging his team to do better work. He also designs many of the plays his team uses. In the case of comic books, the editor thinks up a lot of the ideas which are later turned into stories. (The writer writes the story, but it's the editor who tells him what to write about.)

The editor has to study each and every page of a comic book story. He's constantly trying to make them better, funnier and more exciting. You need a good editor to get a great comic book. That's one of the reasons why Star Comics is so lucky. We have two of the very best comic book editors in the business . . . Sid Jacobson and Larry Hama!

INTRODUCING SID-THE-KID . . .

★★★★★ Sid Jacobson has been editing comic books for over twenty years. He used to be the guiding light behind a certain friendly ghost, and a very famous poor little rich boy, but he's now directing the adventures of Planet Terry, Wally the Wizard, Top Dog, Royal Roy, The Ewoks, Fraggle Rock, The Get Along Gang, Strawberry Shortcake and the Muppet Babies!

Sid used to be a professional song-writer and he's even written a few prose novels! (PLUG: If you'd like to sample some of Sid's comic book writing, pick up a copy of Wally the Wizard #2 and see how well the coach plays on the field.)

By the way, Sid is also a very serious baseball fan. He usually has a small crowd of artists and writers sitting in his office, discussing the latest scores and batting averages. Occasionally, some wise guy tries to stump Sid with a trivia question, but nobody's gotten the best of him yet.

AND, HERE'S LARRY . . .

★★★★★ One of the most popular comic books today is G.I. JOE, and it's written by Larry Hama. Hey, I realize that G.I. JOE is not a Star Comic, but I really like it, anyway. Just pick issue #35 which features the deadly Dreadnoks on the loose and you'll see why! (I couldn't believe what they did to Rock 'N Roll's car!)

Aside from writing and editing comics, Larry has been known to draw them, too. He's also worked as an actor (television, movies and on Broadway), a musician, and a professional model-builder. Needless to say, the guy is talented!

Larry will be editing PETER PORKER, THE SPECTACULAR SPIDER-HAM. The first issue, which is on sale this month, features a fiendish plot by Ducktor Doom to control the world through music videos. (Music videos?!)

On that note, I'll take my leave . . .
Thanks for being there!
